

Work areas at the Jamboree

Administration

This department does a vital job for the smooth-running of the Jamboree. They deal with the IT systems, the registration and check-in, and the Jamboree's budget.

Adult Resources & Services

There will be around 10 000 adults at the Jamboree and they will all need somewhere to sleep and food to eat. This department takes care of all that, and still finds time to offer a friend to listen to your problems when you need to take time out.

Arena Events

The main stage will be hosting spectacular events throughout the Jamboree, including the fantastic Opening and Closing ceremonies. This department works to make the magic happen!

Camp in Camp

Participants will have the chance to go off-site and visit a real Swedish summer camp. This department looks after all the organisation, transport and other arrangements for this exciting part of the Jamboree.

Common Areas

"Meetings, Nature and Solidarity" is the theme of the Jamboree. This department brings those three ideas together by providing all the public areas at the Jamboree with meeting places, cafés and fun activities to give participants a great Jamboree feeling.

Communications

We need to be able to communicate all the great things happening at the Jamboree – both within the camp and with the outside world. This department will work with the camp newsletter, and external press and media, to get the message across.

Logistics

Do you need to move some equipment? Or find the best way to get 38,000 people on to a camp site? This department has all the answers! Working with transport, warehouses and storage, they keep the Jamboree moving.

Module Activities

All the participants will take part in scheduled activities each day. There will be physical activities, new skills to learn, and areas that will make you take a new look at life, and this department will provide the skills to make it happen.

Participant Food

They say "an army marches on its stomach" and that is certainly true about the Jamboree. After a day full of excitement, the participants will be looking forward to a great meal full of the ingredients they got from the on-site supermarket. This department will help them to choose the food and give suggestions for how to cook it, as well as running the supermarket itself.

Safety

When you invite 38 000 people to be in the same place, you need to make sure they will be safe. This department will provide the doctors, nurses and security to make sure that the Jamboree is a fun, safe environment for everyone.

Sales

Many things will be on sale at the Jamboree, from souvenirs such as badges, mugs and t-shirts, to lots of food and drinks in the many cafés. This department will be making sure everyone gets what they want.

Site Services

The Jamboree is not just an empty field – there will be water, electricity and telephone lines and, of course, lots of tents! Site Services will be the people getting their hands dirty to make sure everything works properly.

Subcamps and Contingent Support

These two big areas will be making sure that everyone leaves the Jamboree having had the time of their life. Subcamps are working to make sure that the place where each participant lives is an exciting, vibrant place with great things to do and shows to see, but also that there is somewhere good to sleep and that problems are solved quickly. Contingent Support will be working with the Contingent Management Teams from around the world, having meetings and finding the answers to all their questions.

Visitors

From parents coming to see their children, to local people wanting to see what all the noise is about, to the King of Sweden, all these people will visit the Jamboree. This department will make sure they get a great Jamboree experience and leave wanting more!
